SILENCE FOR THE PEOPLE'S SONG!
NOW THEN—ALL TOGETHER!!

Air—All the blue bonnets are over the borders!!

Rags!—Rags!—We can't endure them,
See how they multiply all our disasters.

Bankers are mad and the people must cure
them.

Look at the lawless and cursed shin plaster!

Where are the farmers' joys,
"Mint drop," and "yellow boys?"

Long live brave Jackson in mortal story!
Long may our "little V" live!

Act like an honest man,
Firmly maintaining our national glory!

Rags!—Rags!—We can't endure them,
See how they multiply all our disasters.

Bankers!—Bankers!—They have suspended.
We can't get a dollar for friend or neighbor.

Now let the system be mended or ended.
We must be paid for our soil and our labor.

Bankers so fond of gain,
O'er freedom shall never reign.

Not their great Paper Kite, Nicholas Biddle,
The "great financier,"

Would cut wisely to steer
To his white marble palace, and hang up his fiddle!

Joe!—Joe!—Thick-headed Josey!
A beautiful sample of shin plaster bullion!

Home!—Home!—Home he must "mosey."
Old Nick may reward his executive scullion.

The thin plasteration
Of his nation.

The people have felt it, and feel it severely,
They'll weather the storm

In the word of Reform;
For they are united—united sincerely!

Sweet!—Sweet!—Sweet are the manions,
Where liberty smiles on our wives and descendents.

Thy paper "contractions" and paper "expansions,"
Would plunder us all of our dear independence.

The sort may gable,
And call us "the rabble."

Or Jacobin radicals, fond of disorder,
Our votes will declare

That we literally are,
The true friends of justice—of law and of order!

Toil!—Toil!—Toil is our pleasure,
Hard cash for hard labor, we surely demand it.

The whole paper system of nominal treasure
We can't and we don't, and we won't understand it!

The anties and whigs,
May go on with their jigs.

The people are vigilant, quiet and sober;
The fair land of Penn

Is still peopled by men,
As the Rag-bills will learn the second of October!!

*We—the people.

HOOSHES' NEST.

Suppose in riding through the West
A stranger found a "Hoosher's nest."

In other words, a buck-eye cabin,
Just big enough to hold queen Mab in:

Its situation, low and airy,
Was on the borders of a prairie;

And fearing he might be benighted,
He hailed the house, and then alighted.

The "Hoosher" met him at the door,
Their salutations soon were o'er;

He took the stranger's horse aside
And to a sturdy sapling tied.

Then having stripped the saddle off,
He fed him in a sugar trough.

The stranger stooped to enter in,
Toe entrance closing with a pin.

And manifested strong desire
To seat him by the log-hearth fire.

Where half a dozen Hoosheresses,
With much and milk, tin cups and spoons,

White heads, bare feet, and dirty faces,
Seemed much inclined to keep their places.

But Madam, "as the Hoosher said,
Her rough and undisputed sway,

Her offering to the ladder led,
And cuffed the youngsters up to bed.

Invited shortly to partake
Of venison, milk, and Jonny cake.

The stranger made a hearty meal,
And glanced round the room would steal.

One side was lined with divers garments,
The other spread with skins of "varments."

Dried pumpkins overhead were strung,
Where venison hangs in plenty hung;

Three dogs lay stretched upon the floor—
In short, the domicile was o'er.

With specimens of "Hoosher" life,
The Host, who centred his affections.

On game, and range, and quarter sections,
Discussed his weary guests for hours.

Till somnolence potent powers,
Of subsidiary care bereft 'em.

No matter how the story ended—
The application intended

Is from the famous Scottish poet,
Who seemed to feel as well as know it.

That "birdly chiefs and clever hizzies,
Are bred in sic a way as this."

"Mister," said a little girl to a respectable vender of bread, pies and cake, "mother wants to put in two cents worth of yeast; and wishes

you to get it in two bottles with tight corks."

"Mother says you may charge it—she has no change to-day!"

We were forcibly reminded of this little squib
a few mornings since, by the frequent call

(from non-subscribers, of course,) for the President's Message.

One of these perhaps I may take your paper-gentlemen, would enter our office, and something like the following ensue.

"Have you received the President's Message?"

"Yes sir, and have published it."
"Have you any spare copies?"
"We have."

"What does your paper come at a year?"
"Two dollars, sir."

"Could you let me have two or three copies of the message?"

"Certainly, sir."

"Would you be so good, sir, as to envelope
this or me; I wish to send it to a friend?"

"Yes, sir, with pleasure."

"I think, sir, if I remain here any time I shall take your paper.—Good morning."

"Good morning, sir."

Soliloquy.—The last of that man or his subscription.

ANALOGY.—Who that has felt it would exchange his situation for any other, while stretched out upon the turf beneath the stream, he empties his mind of the trifles which he has accumulated, and recalls to mind the spot where each was taken, the babe that lured him, and how nearly he had escaped when struggling on the bank! It is perhaps not the least advantage which this delightful amusement possesses, that it can be enjoyed with so little trouble or preparation—requires no co-operation, is prosecuted amidst the most romantic scenery, and at times most favorable to its effect, when the roaring flood or full channel gives majesty to the river, and beauty to the stream.

HARD KISSING.—A man at Middlesex, Conn. had his nose bit off lately, while attempting to kiss another man's wife. The jury, which tried the case, acquitted the woman; and the magistrate decided, that "if a man attempted to kiss
a woman against her will, she had a right to bite off his nose, if she had a fancy for so doing."

NEWSPAPER READERS.

How endless is the variety of newspaper readers; and how hard is it to satisfy their wants. Mr. A. believes that he shall discontinue his paper, because it contains no political news—and B. is decidedly of the opinion that the same sheet dabbles too freely in the political movements of the day. C. doesn't take it because it is all one side. And D. whose opinion it generally expresses, does not like it because it is not severe enough upon the Administration. E. thinks it does not pay due attention to fashionable literature—and F. cannot bear the flimsy notions of idle writers. G. will not suffer a paper to be upon his table which ventures an opinion in favor of slavery—and G. never patronizes one that lacks moral courage to expose the evils of the day. I declare he does not want a paper filled with the hedge-podge
proceedings of Congress and the legislature—and J. considers that paper the best which gives the greatest quantity of such proceedings. K. patronizes papers for the light and lively reading which they contain—and L. wonders that the press does not publish Dewey's sermons, and such "solid matter." M. will never read a paper that does not expose the evils of sectarianism—and N. is decidedly of the opinion that the pulpit, and not the press should meddle with religious dogmas.
O. likes to read police reports—and P.
whose appetite is less morbid, would not have a paper in which these silly reports are printed in his house. Q. likes anecdotes—and R. won't take a paper that publishes them. S. says that murderers and dreadful accidents ought not to be put in papers—and T. complains that his miserable paper gave no account of that highway robbery last week. U. says the type is too small—and V. thinks it too large. W. stops his paper because it contains nothing but advertisements—and all that X. wants of it is to see what is for sale. Y. will not take the paper unless it is left at his store before sunrise—and Z. declares he will not pay for it if left so early that it is stolen from his domicile before he is up. And last of all, come the complaints of some ladies, who declare the paper is uninteresting
because it does not every day contain a list of the marriages—just as if it were possible for the printers to marry people whether the parties will or not.

MEMORY.

Among the many remarkable qualities of David Crockett was his wonderful memory of which my friend Col. A., whom he once saw against Congress, lately gave the following anecdote in proof. "When we began our electioneering campaign," said Col. A., "not being able to speak very well extempore
or rather not at all, I wrote out a speech with great care and committed it to memory. I delivered this at three several meetings, and was a good deal gratified
in believing that it was very well received.
I had always spoken first, but at the fourth meeting, which was a very numerous one, Crockett proposed that he should take the lead. He accordingly mounted the stand, and to my utter amazement recited every word of my speech, and only changing very slightly,
a sentence or two to suit his own case.
I never felt more awkward in my life.
My turn to speak came, and my speech was gone: stolen—used up—and I was left without a word to say. And to complete my mortification, the rascal was chuckling and laughing as if he had done
the very cleverest thing in the world."

It is said that Mr. Holland, one of the three aeronauts, who recently made an adventurous excursion in a large balloon
from London to Germany, has declared intention of trying an aerial voyage from Ireland to America.—New York Advertiser.

Intellectual pleasures.—When a young man has acquired a love for reading, and of course a relish for intellectual pleasures, he has one of the best preservatives against dissipation.

News for the Ladies.—La Vaubeliere,
a new and beautiful article for ladies'
dresses, is leading the fashion in N. York.
It is silk and worsted stuff, of different shades and figures, exhibiting on the surface damask flowers of great variety. It is said to be at once rich and tasteful.

NEWSPAPER DEBTS.—The conduct of some who call themselves honorable men in regard to debts of this description, is infamous; and means are sometimes resorted to for evading their payment which are shameful. When a man after regularly receiving a Newspaper for years,
pleads that he only intended to take it for one year; or when another pleads the statute of Limitations in bar of a just claim, we feel disposed to gazette these bankrupts in integrity, and expose them to the scorn of honest people. There is no money so hardly earned as the Subscriptions to Newspapers, and it is a shame for any man, who is able to pay, to hesitate to discharge his account when presented.—Raleigh Register.

EARLY DISADVANTAGES.—"I learned grammar," says WILLIAM CORBETT, "when I was a private soldier on the pay of sixpence a day. The edge of my berth, or that of my guard bed, was my seat to study in; my knapsack was my bookcase, and a bit of board lying in my lap was my writing table. I had no money to purchase candle or oil; in winter time
it was rarely that I could get any light but that of the fire, and only my turn at the tub. To buy a pen or a sheet of paper,
I was compelled to forego some portion of food though in a state of half starvation. I had no moment of time that I could call my own; I had to read and write amidst the talking, laughing, singing, whistling, and bawling of, at least half a score of the most thoughtless of men;
and that too in the hours of their freedom from all control. And I say if I, under circumstances like these, could encounter and overcome the task there, can there be, in the whole world, a youth who can find an excuse for the non-performance?"

A few days ago, a man was arrested in Booneville, Ia., and three men were appointed to keep him safe through the night. In the course of the night, however, the watchers got drunk, and the thief stripped them of their clothes, and stole a valuable horse, saddle, and bridle, and then made his escape, leaving his guard in all the glory of stark nakedness.
—Cincinnati Daily Ecce Post.

THE PILL TRADE.—The New York
Journal of Commerce states that a certain Pill manufacturer in that city has received in the course of the past season two hundred tierces of pill boxes; and it appears that he has filled them. For on receiving recently a fresh load of tierces he remarked to the carman who brought them, that he had on hand sixteen bushels of pills, for which he had no boxes.

Polishing Up.—Almost every body
has met with a man who peddles a composition about the streets of this city.
He is rather profuse in his remarks on his excellence, and proves its efficacy
by rubbing it on brass candlesticks, &c.
The following incident is said to have taken place a day or two since in the neighborhood of the Marsh market.

"Look here ladies and gentlemen,"
said the composition pedler, rubbing a brass watch case, "this is the greatest thing ever discovered, it will turn every thing into silver."

"Is that a fact sir?" asked a country-
man.

"Yes sir—look at this watch case, it was brass just now, but it is changed to silver."

"Well I swear!" exclaimed the country
man, handing him a modern shin plaster.

"I wish you would rub a little of that stuff on this ere bill, and turn it into silver."—Boston Transcript.

SPORT.

There is to be a three days shooting match near Winchester, Ky., on the first Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of November, next. First day, distance one hundred yards—entrance $100, each man 11 shots; six nearest to be measured; and the farthest of the six to be the distance of the match; the best match taking the whole sum. Second day 150 yards—entrance $50, best six in eleven, as above. Third day 200 yards—$75.
The "crack shots" of Ohio and Indiana
are invited.—Cincinnati Republican.

SPIRIT OF THE QUEEN.—If all the anecdotes related of Queen Victoria are true, or even half of them, her courtiers and ministers have gotten a mistress in her most gracious majesty. A correspondent of the U. S. Gazette relates one which gives a striking evidence of her spirit, as well as of her affection for her mother. It seems that her majesty had intimated a desire for the presence of the Duchess, at a meeting of the Privy Council; whereupon it was delicately intimated to her that such a proceeding was contrary to etiquette—that the Duchess could not be present even as an attendant upon the person of the sovereign.—And thereupon her majesty proceeded to the Council in a twinkling, and walked out of the room with a haughty
grace that would have done no discredit to the fiery Elizabeth. Of the same character was her answer to the objection raised against the appointment of Miss Jenkinson, daughter of the Earl of Liverpool, as one of the ladies of the bed chamber. The Queen was told that Miss Jenkinson's rank was not sufficient to permit her reception of that honor.
"I can make it so," was the young lady's significant reply.—Com. Adm.

GOOD ANECDOTE.—One day when the celebrated somnambulist, Mr. G. was being experimented upon at a hotel in Connecticut, in presence of a number of scientific gentlemen, the servant, a rosy country girl, by the request of the exhibitor, brought in a blanket, and tarrying seemed to look upon some of the experiments with great interest, but seeing the somnambulist read the newspaper through several folds of the blanket, without the least difficulty, she blushed very red,
and edged her way sheepishly out of the room, exclaiming in a pet, to the great amusement of the spectators, "if I them are somnambulist fellers could see through things arter that fashion, she did'nt know what good a body's clothes did them."

Horses and cowboys joined in the general conformation, flourishing their tails and heels aloft, and made the air resound with their snorting as they hurried away. Fortunately for Clayton a small fruit tree broke his fall with its yielding branches, and he escaped with a few light bruises. The Dutchmen after surveying him from a distance became at last convinced that he was but a man, and not the evil one, and went at once to his assistance, took him home with them, bound up his wounds and feasted him luxuriously on sour crou.

FOR CONSUMPTION.

The MATCHLESS SANATIVE is made
of half an ounce.

Dose for adults one drop, for children half drop, for infants one fourth of a drop.
Price $2.50 per Phial.

D. Bradford

As an evidence of the high repute in which the Matchless Sanative is held, the following extract is given from the Boston Morning Post:

It appears by the following information given to the public by Dr. Rowland of this city that the much talked of Matchless Sanative is indeed what it professes to be—an efficient and valuable medicine, worthy the serious attention of every consumptive person.

MTCHLESS SANATIVE.
DAVID S. ROWLAND, the General American Agent for this mighty medicine, (Invented by the immortal Goelckie of Germany,) has great pleasure in publishing the following highly important letter from a respectable gentleman in New York, which he has recently received, with many others of similar character—also very interesting intelligence from several of our Agents, especially in Salem, Mass., will be a treat to which, together with the annexed certificate—written by three eminent German Physicians—must forever establish the character of the Sanative, as being without a parallel in the history of medicine.

[The unequalled reception with which it is met, speaks more than volumes in its favor. Already has its list of Agents in America, during the short period of three months, swelled to the goodly number of SEVEN HUNDRED AND TWENTY-ONE, (mostly Postmasters), who have voluntarily applied for agencies from the remotest sections of the country, or else kindred forward responsible names as agents, in cases where it was inconvenient for them to act, that capacity—and new applications are daily pouring in from every quarter.

A letter from H. F. Sherwood, Esq., of N. York

Dr. S. Rowland,—Sir, About the middle of July last, I accidentally noticed in a newspaper the advertisement of the Matchless Sative, for which I perceived you were agent, and which I professed to be a sovereign remedy for Consumption.

Consumption. I was then fast wasting away in this dreadful disease, and as our family physician was daily and anxiously endeavoring to restore her to health without success, I stepped over to his house and asked him if he had any objections to her taking this new medicine. He replied, that "he was perfectly willing Mr. Sherwood should take that or any other medicine she might choose, but he thought it could do her no good, as her lungs were daily running and she would never be able to save her." Her drowning person will catch a straw, and the Sanative being recommended by three physicians who had used it in their practice, she concluded to give it a trial. I bought and purchased a vial, which she commenced taking three times a day, giving a free indulgence to her appetite according to the directions. By pursuing this course, she suffered considerably for the first eight or ten days, but then she began to eat and drink freely, without any inconvenience.

the least inconvenience. Within four weeks from her first using the medicine, her feeble and wasted form began to put on new strength, and she has been gaining from day to day until the present moment, the utter astonishment of our family physicians and friends. She is now enjoying a comfortable (though not perfect) state of health, is able to be about house and attend church.

the opinion, and so are all who knew her remarkable case, that she owes her life to the Sarsaparilla alone; and as there are probably many consumptive persons in the United States, who have not yet heard of this medicine, measuring speedily to be adopted to have it more generally known.

A number of persons in this neighborhood understand, are taking it for other serious complaints, with very great benefit.

I think of going to the South, with my family, sometime this fall, and in case I do, I will proclaim the virtues of the Sanative in the quarter; for although some of the Physicians here are actively opposed to it, I do sincere believe it saved my wife from an opening grave.

If you think this letter will serve the public good, you are at liberty to publish it.
Respectfully, for H. E. SHERWOOD

Testimony No. 3.
 A certificate from three members of the ME
 ICAL PROFESSION, in Germany, in Europe.

We, the undersigned, practitioners of Me

cine in Germany, are well aware, that by our course we may forfeit the friendship of some of the faculty, but not of its benevolent members who are uninfluenced by selfish motives. Though we shall refrain from an expression of our opinion, either of the soundness or unsoundness of Dr. Goedicke's new doctrine, we are happy to say that we deem his Sanative treatment valuable not to be generally known; for with our eyes behold and our ears hear, we must believe.

He who has the state, that when Dr. Louis-Offenbach's first came before the German public as the pretended discoverer of a new doctrine and a new medicine, we held him in the highest contempt, believing and openly pronouncing him to be a base impostor and the prince of quacks. But, on hearing so much said about the value of his medicine, we were so much influenced from motives of curiosity merely, to material of its reputed virtues upon a number of our most helpless patients; and we now deem it our bounden duty (even at the expense of self-interest) publicly to acknowledge its mischievous efficacy, in curing not only consumption, but other diseases, which we were formerly believed incurable. Our contempt for the discoverer of this medicine was at once swallowed up in our utter astonishment at these unexpected results; and as an amends for our abuse of him, we do frankly confess to the world that we believe him a philanthropist, who does honor to the name of physician and to our country, which gave him birth.

The recent adoption of this medicine in some of our European Hospitals, is a sufficient guaranty that it performs all it promises. We need not our testimony, for whereever it is used, it is its own best witness.

Baltimore Republican. This valuable paper has passed from SAMUEL HARKER Esq. to Messrs Busn & Cox, who say in their address,—"The general administration will be supported uniformly in its present policy, and the principles of American Democracy will find in the Republican an ardent advocate."

Peck's New Gazette of Illinois—is the title of a little volume that has been handed to us, published by Gigg & Elliott, Phila. It comprises an account of the general features of the State and qualities of the soil, of the manufactures, climate and health, religious denominations, public lands, internal improvements &c. It is a neat book; But we have something better to say, for we regard it as a most valuable companion for the emigrant to that State, and as such we cordially recommend it as a lamp to guide him on his way. For sale at Skillman's at the low price of 50 cents per copy.

THE INTRODUCTORY LECTURES.—This series was commenced on Monday by Prof. Dudley, whose address we are informed (not having been present) was in accordance with the high standing of that gentleman.

On Tuesday Dr. Cross, successor of Dr. Caldwell in the chair of Materia Medica delivered his first lecture to a crowded audience embracing much of the "beauty and fashion" of our city, attracted as well by the already acquired fame of the new professor as by the circumstance of his succeeding the redoubt champion of "bumpology."

It would be doing injustice were we to attempt an analysis of this valuable piece of composition, which for propriety of sentiment, beauty and energy of diction unencumbered by useless ornament, we hazard nothing in saying, will bear comparison with the finest efforts ever made within the walls of Transylvania even in her palmiest days. In it was painted with a masters hand that lawless empiricism which to a lamentable extent now pervades the land, and an urgent advice to students not to remain satisfied with the scanty acquirements made at a College. We hope for the general benefit that this production will soon be published.

On yesterday Dr. Eberle gave his lecture, and though evidently labouring under severe health presented a succinct and most vivid sketch of the rise and progress of the "healing art" with its fluctuations till the present time. The Hon. DANIEL MAYES, one of the Professors in the Law Department, delivered his Introductory Lecture in the Chapel of the University yesterday evening at 3 o'clock.

Professor Richardson will lecture this day, Professor Short to-morrow, and the introductory lectures will be closed on the following day by Professor Mitchell.

We have heard various statements as to the number of students in attendance; but we apprehend the number will not vary greatly from the last session. One hundred and forty-eight had taken the matriculation ticket at 12 o'clock yesterday.

On the 24th ult 2200 Creek Indians embarked on board four steamboats for Arkansas.

The gale which did so much damage at New Orleans on the 6th October, extended its ravages over some of the richest agricultural districts in Louisiana, injuring very severely the cotton and sugar crops, which previously promised an abundant yield. On some plantations a loss of one third has been sustained.

Health of New Orleans.—The Bulletin of the 26th says:—"The cases of fever are now confined almost exclusively to strangers, and even they are rapidly diminishing—nothing but a long continuance of hot weather unusual at this season of the year has kept the epidemic lingering among us. It may be said now to be on the eve of bidding us farewell."

SUSQUEHANNAH—QUESTION SETTLED.

The fact that this ship is safe, and that she was not captured by a pirate, is conclusively established by the intelligence furnished by Captain Spinney, of the steam packet New York. The Commercial Advertiser says:—"It will be recollected that the steam packet New York, which left this port on Saturday, the 21st of October, reported that she saw the Susquehanna the next day. This intelligence was a great relief to those concerned, yet it was feared it might have been some other ship. All doubts are now removed by the return, this morning, of the New York. We learn from Capt. Spinney, that on Sunday morning, at 10 o'clock, he passed under the stern of the Susquehanna—read her name, saw the passengers, among whom were several ladies—and was sufficiently near to have thrown a biscuit on board. The ship was then twelve leagues east south east from Cape Henlopen. It was calm, and she had all her sails set—heading east, and no other vessel then in sight."

The Journal of Commerce says—Capt. Spinney had not heard aught of the piracy until we told it to him. He says that at the time already stated, he passed under the stern of the Susquehanna, and read her name. A large man apparently the Captain, with a spy glass in his hand, was standing on the quarter deck, with passengers about him. The ship had studding sails set, but was becalmed except a very slight breeze from the south west, not sufficient to give her headway. He and Capt. Cropper looked good naturedly at each other, but spoke not. No black schooner in sight.

The same paper says—The U. S. brig Porpoise, Lieut. Stringer, arrived this morning, after an unsuccessful cruise of several days in pursuit of the "low, long, black schooner." She was sent on a fools errand, and comes back as wise as she went.

The Revenue Cutter Alert, which was despatched after the pirate that captured the Susquehanna, returned to New York on Thursday without finding him.

The packet ship Garrick which sailed from New York on Wednesday, was completely armed.

We are indebted to the politeness of Captain Durr of the ship Herald, at this port from Liverpool, for files of London and Liverpool papers to the date of his sailing.

A public meeting was held at Birmingham, on the 4th October, which was very numerous attended by almost all the mercantile gentlemen of the place, and especially by those engaged in trade with this country, and the object of which was to receive the report of the committee of merchants, manufacturers, bankers, tradesmen and workmen, respecting the general distress and embarrassment of the commercial classes.

The report was read, as follows:—"Your committee feel it their painful duty to state that the distress of this town and neighborhood is very great; that they see no reason to anticipate any speedy or effectual relief. The alterations of great apparent prosperity and sudden deep distress, which have invariably attended the expansion or contraction of currency, prove beyond doubt, that to monetary system is mainly to be attributed the present general and alarming distress. In the opinion of your committee no permanent relief can be given while that system, which has been proved so liable to fluctuations, is suffered to continue."

Your committee cannot but express its decided conviction that the effectual and permanent relief of the general distress is a question paramount to all others that nothing can accomplish this great and important object but such a revision of our present laws as shall tend to the adoption of a monetary system adequate to the wants of a great commercial community."

FRANCE.

LONDON, Oct. 6

The Moniteur of Wednesday, which with the other Paris papers of that day we have received in ordinary course, contains a Royal ordinance, declaring the Chamber of Deputies dissolved; fixing the elections for the 4th November, with the exception of those for Corsica, which are to take place on the 18th of December next.

By a second ordinance, 50 new Peers are created, among whom are M. M. Huguier, (formerly Minister of Finance), Bignon, Merilhou, Charles Dupin, Keratry, Pelet (de la Lozette), Schonen, and Camille Perier; Generals Marchand, Castellane, Daruval, Delort, Duroncel, Pelet, Tillet, and Tiburce Sabatier; Admirals Holagan and Willaumez.

PORTUGAL.

From the Lisbon Gazette of the 25 Sept.

We have the satisfaction to make it public that the revolt has been completely brought to an end. Despatches have been forwarded to the government by Baron Villar Torpim, commander of the third military division, who reports that every thing is quiet at Oporto, and throughout the district under his command.

Lisbon, Sept. 23.—Four P. M. Telegraphic Despatch from Oporto, from the Commander of the Third Military Division.

"On the 20th inst. the revolted troops surrendered under the following conditions—viz. 1. All the soldiers to be at the disposal of her Majesty's Government. 2. The revolted chiefs to quit the kingdom. 3. The officers to be put on the reduced pay of the tariff of 1790."

"These conditions extend to the troops at Valencia and other places."

P. S. The above news has been fully confirmed by the Oporto post just arrived. The gale is completely up, and my prediction from the commencement has been verified. The conditions upon which Saldanha and Mercera have surrendered are as above stated.

Oporto, Sept. 26.

"I presume the folks with you would be as much taken by surprise at the result of the attempts to restore the charter of 1836 as they were here. It came like a thunderbolt upon us, and I never saw people more chaffed. From what we can learn here, it appears the Baron de Leiria had orders from Saldanha, &c, not to fight until he could join with his cavalry. He (Leiria) took up a position at Ruivas to wait for Saldanha, but it is supposed he was pushed so hard by the Viscount das Antas (who well aware of the advantage of attacking before Saldanha could join) that he could not avoid fighting. It is said his troops repulsed the attacks twice (on the 18th.) but were thrown into disorder by the desertion of Colonel Gonvea with some 200 men to Antas's side, and some Cauderos appearing in the rear completed the panic. It was then save himself who could, the troops running in all directions, the main body on the road to Chaves. That evening Saldanha came up, but too late to do any good. An armistice was requested, but they were told to lay down their arms first. The rest you are aware of. It is said nearly 300 officers and many soldiers refused to accept the amnesty and went into Spain. I think the numbers are overated however. No doubt the chiefs will publish a statement of the facts when they get to England. The above, however, may be relied on, pouco mais ou menos.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

Liverpool papers to the 10th and London to the 9th October, and brought by the packet ship Virginia, at New York. The Courier and Commercial Advertiser furnish the following items of intelligence.

The foundation stone of a monument to Sir Walter Scott was laid, with great ceremony, at Glasgow, on the 2d of October, by the lord Provost. The expense of the monument is defrayed by the citizens.

The Dumfries Courier states that the take of herrings in the West Highlands, exceeds that of any season for the last 10 years. At one station (Tarbet) there were nearly 1000 boats engaged in the fishing. The potatoe crop throughout the Highlands is also very abundant.

Louis Philippe has returned to St. Cloud and the official announcement of the dissolution of the Chamber of Deputies has at last appeared. The elections which will in consequence ensue occupy chiefly the attention of the Parisian press; there is little doubt however that the result will be favorable to the views of the Government.

Don Carlos is retreating from Madrid before Espartero, the Queen's General. No serious engagement however has taken place between the contending parties.

In Portugal, the attempts to re-establish the charter granted by Don Pedro, it will be seen has entirely failed.

Manchester Trade.—Business has been very flat in this town during the last few days; the cessation of purchasers of Russia, the unfavorable tenure of the American President's Message, and the flatness in the Liverpool cotton Market, have all produced their share of effect on the demand for goods and yarn in this town. Rather lower prices were offering yesterday for yarn; but we are not aware that any decline was generally established. Indeed, most of the spinners are at present under contract, so that the quantity of yarn on the market is by no means large.—Manchester Guardian.

Trade of Preston.—There has not this week been quite so much activity in the cotton trade as was the case in the two preceding weeks. There is no decline in the public confidence, nor has any visible reduction taken place in the prices of either the raw or manufactured material. There is on the whole little to complain of in this town. As regards the laboring population, employment is tolerably plentiful, and provisions unusually cheap.—Manchester Guardian.

FIRE.—We understand that a destructive fire occurred in Paris, on Friday night last, destroying all the houses, (6 in number) from Main street on the next side of the public square, in to the Branch of the Northern Bank of Kentucky. The buildings, we learn, were the property of Mr. Jefferson Scott, and were occupied for different purposes by ten individuals.

From the New Orleans Advertiser, Oct. 26.

ARRIVAL OF U. S. SHIP PEACOCK.

Our correspondents of the Norfolk Herald and Beacon inform us that the U. S. Ship Peacock, C. K. STRIBLING, Esq. Commander, bearing the brand pendant of Commodore EDMUND P. KENNEDY, 37 days from Bahia, came into the Capes of Virginia on Wednesday evening and arrived at Norfolk on Friday.

The Peacock sailed from New York on the 23d of April, 1835, and has circumnavigated the world, touching at Rio Janeiro, Zanzibar, Muscat, Bombay, Ceylon, Java, Syehang Islands, Siam, Cochinchina, and Macao in China. She sailed thence June 23, 1836, for the U. States, via Cape Horn, touching at the Bonin and Sandwich Islands, Monterey in Upper California, Mazatlan, San Blas, and Acapulco in Mexico; Payta, Huacho, Callao and Pisco in Peru; Juan Fernandez, and Valparaiso; remaining some months on the coast of S. America, whence, after the arrival of the N. Carolina, she sailed for Norfolk.

The Peacock has been absent two years and six months, having been in that period 524 days at sea, and has sailed 54, 128 miles per log.

Though five different epidemics have passed through the ship, and the number of sick has at times been very great, the deaths amongst the crew have only been ten, and the health of the officers and crew is now completely reestablished.

The visit of the Peacock to these different countries, has no doubt been attended with considerable benefit to the interest of our commerce, and we trust that the attention of our Government having been turned to this subject, the large amount of American property in the Eastern seas will not again be left without the protection of our Navy.—Twenty distressed American Seamen have been brought from Rio Janeiro, as passengers, in addition to a number shipped at different ports in the cruise.—Balt. American.

The Norfolk Herald says:—We learn from the officers of the Peacock that on Wednesday morning at day break off Cape Hatteras, they discovered a large ship between them and the shore, steering in a South Westerly direction, with black sides and a white streak with ports, and having main royal, but no fore or mizen royal.—There was a schooner about a mile astern of the ship.—Id.

At the request of the friends of Captain White, of the steam boat "Home," the steward of that vessel has published a long statement describing the conduct of the Captain from the time of leaving New York until subsequently to the wreck. His testimony goes very far to exonerate the Captain from the charge of drunkenness, as he says that officer took during the whole time but two glasses, both of which were given by himself. He also states that the Captain took but one meal of food, and was excessively exhausted from fatigue and being drenched with water, besides being without sleep for a great number of hours. We are sincerely gratified at seeing this testimony in behalf of one whose feelings under the best aspect of the matter must be most unenviable.—Id.

The U. S. ship Ohio, promises to be the fastest vessel in the navy. During her late passage from New York to Boston, with flying jib and royals, within seven points of the wind, she went eleven knots per hour—with top gallant sails, twelve knots and seven fathoms per hour—under double reefed top sails, ten and a half knots per hour.—Id.

The Iron Trade in England.—The Boston Daily Advertiser remarks that the iron trade in England has been, within the last twelve months, subject to remarkable fluctuations. Prices had during the last season, in consequence of the excessive demand for the use of rail roads, risen to an extensive height. The depression in mercantile affairs produced a sudden cessation of the demand, both in England and in this country, and although the iron masters attempted to counteract the effects of this reverse, by putting a portion of their furnaces out of blast, the expedient was unavailing, and prices after a short resistance suddenly fell. In the mean time the prosecution of the public works in England, as well as in this country, was resumed—the stocks of merchants and retailers became exhausted, and the demand for iron as re-commenced with a vigour which has produced another rapid advance in prices. So sudden an advance is likely however to be followed by another reaction. The demand for rail road iron, for this country must be for a long time confined to the supply of works which have been for some time in actual progress and the quantity required will be much less than in two or three years past.—Id.

A MAMMOTH. A gentleman of Jackson has favored us with the annexed description of some bones, dug up in the vicinity of that place. Nearly the whole skeleton was found about twenty feet below the surface of the ground.

A HUGE ONE. Messrs. BRIGGS and FOSTER, the gentlemen now engaged on the geological survey of the country, have recently discovered the fossil bones of an animal of the most astonishing magnitude.—From these bones, some slight conception can be formed of its size. A tusk measures more than ten feet in length and twenty-three inches in circumference, at the largest part, and weighed, when taken from the earth, 180 lbs., and the other bones are of corresponding proportions.

OBITUARY. Death, in whatsoever guise it comes amongst us, is always the unfeeling herald of deep and painful regret. Even under the most alleviating circumstances, when shorn of half its horrors it comes softly stealing in the footsteps of old age, and gently bears away the grey headed man from a life whose joys and pleasures have all been exhausted—even then, we cannot contemplate it with deep abiding awe. But when we behold the young man in the pride of his existence, cut down suddenly, and all the bright anticipations which he has cherished, and all the ardent hopes which have been centered upon him, fall with him, emotions the most painful and afflict ing crowd thick and fast upon us. Such are the feelings with which we would record the death of JOHN HENRY TAYLOR, who departed this life in Chicot county, Arkansas, on the 27th day of October last in the 24th year of his age, after a short but unusually severe attack of Congestive Fever. Seldom has an individual far removed from our midst, whose loss has been more deeply felt in the circle in which he moved. Young, ardent, and intelligent, with a mind enriched and cultivated by a liberal education, and a heart keenly alive to every lofty and generous impulse, he secured the respect of all with who he had ought to do—the affectionate esteem of all who knew him well. The esteem of his friends was the pride of his generous heart, and he richly and lavishly was it poured out upon him. Removed to a state in which his energies and enterprise, his industry and talents, his conciliating manners and affectionate feelings enabled him to build up a would-have-been fortune and an enviable fame, his noble qualities had already drawn towards him the friendship and affection of a large circle of acquaintances, when the demon of disease laid his withering touch upon him, and he fell, and with him all the cherished hopes and promises of his existence. But the lamp of true affection can never be extinguished. His memory is embalmed in the hearts of all who knew him, and if the deep felt sympathies of many friends can prove a balm to the wounded affections of his bereaved and afflicted family, it is freely, fully, and from the heart given.

STRAY HORSE.
GOT away from Dickey and West's Stables in Lexington, on Friday, the 8th of last month, a

Rusty Black Horse,
4 years old last spring, is not well broke, but has been rode; inclines to pace or rack when rode fast; carries his tail a little one-side; holds his head up well when mounted; is in thin order; no white mark recollected. He looks quite tall and slim, but I think is not over 15 hands high.

He is most probably taken up by some person between Lexington and my house, on the Railroad, 10 miles from town. I will give $5 reward and pay all reasonable charges for his delivery at the Stage Stables in Lexington, or at my house.
